FORTS OF LEMBERG IN RUSSIAN HANDS AFTER HARD FIGHT

Operations Extend Over Front of 200 Miles—1,500,000 Men Engaged

AUSTRIAN ONSLAUGHT MET WITH SERIES OF DISASTERS

Great Victory in Galicia Is Thought to Be Only Beginning of the End

London, Sept. 4. (4.07 a.m.)—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times in a report on the operations around Lemberg says:

"The forts of Lemberg have fallen and other Austrian armies have been engaged in northern Galicia, near Lublin. We may yet have to chronicle the complete disruption of the dual monarchies' armed forces."

"The operations extended over an enormous front of 200 miles, and probably a million and a half men were engaged. The Austrians' extreme right sustained enormous losses, but the most terrible blow was dealt them by the gallant Russian army, which, starting from Hovna, thence (toward) the southwest, sweeping forward so as to involve the region north and east of Lemberg, menaced the rear of the Lublin army and threatened to cut its communications."

"To parry this movement the Austrians transferred several army corps from the west side of the Vistula, and moving them behind Lublin hurried them to Russia."

"The result of this movement is chronicled in today's official bulletin of victory. The Austrians' desperate onslaught on Ruzhky's army has been attended with a whole series of disasters, notably the destruction of an army corps at Lachoff, a few miles east of Tomaszow."

London, Sept. 4. (The Times continues the following under date of Thursday): "Information telegraphed by the headquarters staff today encourages the hope that the victory of Lemberg is only the beginning of the end. The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, and the loss of the city, which was an army which was to have a screen to their retreat, already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming."

The retreat of such an enormous force, reliably estimated at eight army corps, and the loss of the city, which was an army which was to have a screen to their retreat, already spells disaster, complete and overwhelming."

"The fall of Lemberg, which is the center of eight important railway lines, renders the Russians absolute masters of the whole of eastern Galicia."

Petrograd (St. Petersburg), Sept. 4. (via Paris, 4.24 a.m.)—An official statement issued by the government says:

"Concerning the operations of the Russian army in Galicia our troops say that the enemy is retreating after desperate fighting near Halicz, leaving 4,000 dead on the field. The Russians took 22 cannon and some railway material."

"On the south of Warsaw the Austrian attack was repulsed and the offensive taken by the Russians."

"The German agency publishes a despatch from Petrograd, giving the following announcement:

"The fifteenth Austrian division was completely defeated August 23 near Lachoff (a few miles east of Tomaszow, in Russian Poland), a division commander, a brigade commander and a chief of one of the divisions of the staff were killed. One hundred officers and 4,000 soldiers were wounded. We took 20 guns and the flag of the sixteenth Austrian regiment. The battlefield was covered with corpses of the enemy."

"Machinery has been invented for quickly regulating the flow of material over a belt conveyor."

EDMONTON TO BE ALSO REPRESENTED IN FINEST FLEET THAT SAILS SEAS

In addition to the fine troops which Edmonton has sent to help in fighting the land battles of the allied against the Austrians and Germans, she has given, at least one to the fleet and mightiest fleet that sails on all the seas in the person of Harry Laundy, an engineer of the city power plant, who is giving a faithful support to the Empire hotel Thursday evening by a few of his fellow employees at the hotel. Mr. Laundy is a member of the commission in the royal navy and left to go for the other side of the big job which the British tars so completely dominate. He has been in the city's employ 18 months and had many hearty wishes showered on him as he left at night at the Empire.

NORTH RAILROADS TO BE EXTENDED BY TWO BRANCHES

Powers Will Be Asked for Athabasca Valley and New Waterways Line

FORMER TO JOIN RIVER TO E. D. AND B. C.

Rapidity of Construction Makes Country More Attractive Than Ever

A growing interest in the north coast adjacent to Edmonton has become apparent within the last few weeks, especially it has become known that at the coming session of the legislative assembly of the province of Alberta application will be made by the Athabasca Valley and New Waterways railway company, with headquarters at Edmonton, for an amendment to the statute which provides for the extension of the company may build two new lines that will tap wonderfully rich portions of the north coast of the province and also to the hundreds of settlers that are already there and many daily coming into the territory.

The first of these new lines is to be from a point on the Athabasca river some 35 miles northeast of Edmonton, to the point where the river crosses the north coast, to the city of Edmonton, a distance of about 100 miles, and will be constructed by the J. D. McArthur company, as will also the other branch from Lac la Piche to the eastern boundary of the province.

This line, after leaving Lac la Piche, will run almost parallel with the big Beaver river, and then, dropping some thirty miles south and east, will tap what is said to be very fine agriculture within five years. These facts are very encouraging to settlers in the districts affected and also to prospective homesteaders, who may secure fine quarter sections along or near the proposed new railways.

In the case of the Athabasca Valley line, the act, if passed, will provide for the commencement of the line within one year and its completion within five years. These facts are very encouraging to settlers in the districts affected and also to prospective homesteaders, who may secure fine quarter sections along or near the proposed new railways.

Machinery has been invented for quickly regulating the flow of material over a belt conveyor.

LIVES FIVE LONG YEARS IN ARCTIC PREACHING GOSPEL

Anglican Missionary, Down From North, Tells of Many Hair-Raising Exploits

SEARCH WILDS FOR NOW FAMOUS BLONDE EXKIMO

For Whole Winter Marooned on Lonely Island With Hardly Any Food

After having spent five long years in the north country, during which time hardships and thrilling experiences made up the days and months, Rev. W. J. Fry, an Anglican missionary, now on his way home to England on a furlough, is in the city today and tells a long story of his adventures in the wilds of the north.

Mr. Fry's first trip out in five years, and but for his love of the work he is engaged in, he would have little care for the life, where it is always cold and where the sun is never seen. In search for the blonde Eskimo Mr. Fry, with his colleague, W. D. Young, traveled north, accompanied by Eskimo aids and guides, but these one by one fell by the wayside, and Mr. Fry had to retrace his steps, after having reached within 90 miles of the straits.

Mr. Fry's headquarters have been at Exkimo Point, which is known to the Eskimos as Kikilauk, and is on the mainland, 40 miles west of the Alaskan boundary and on the farthest arm of the Mackenzie River delta. His territory extended east 500 miles in a direct line from Herschel Island.

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES REDUCTIONS IN SALARIES; S. A. G. BARNES OPPOSES

At a meeting of the Edmonton Public School board held on Thursday night it was decided that the salaries of teachers and janitors in the Edmonton city schools be reduced 10 per cent.

Strenuous objections were made by S. Gordon Barnes, finance commissioner of the board, who claimed that the conditions were not sufficiently grave to warrant a decrease.

The resolution, which Mr. Barnes condemned, was passed at a meeting of the board held on the previous night. Mr. Barnes claimed that not only is the reduction illegal, but also absolutely unnecessary.

"We have the guarantee," he said, "that the Imperial Bank, our bankers, will pay our salaries until such time as we receive our debentures. Our secretary-treasurer is now in New York making an effort to effect financial arrangements, that I am sure, will prove favorable."

The reason for the reduction, according to K. W. McKenna, father of the resolution calling for it, is that the citizens of the city have to be considered. When it was passed, they were considering the taxpayers, many of whom would find difficulty to make a living and that every item of reduction would be of material assistance to them.

New York, Sept. 4.—Dow, Jones and company published the following item on their news ticker today:

"London—It is reported at Lloyds that Germany has sent an ultimatum to Holland. There is no confirmation."

Aquian's Bow Stave In Liverpool, Sept. 4.—The ship how badly stove in, the Canadian liner Aquian, lies off the mouth of the Mersey, awaiting repairs. The ship had been commandeered by the British government and was to be used as a transport. She was patrolling off the west coast of Ireland when she collided head on with the Leyland liner Canadian which was also on the government service. Both steamers were badly stove up. It is doubtful whether the Aquian will be able to take part in the war movement for some months.

Flower of Austrian Army Is Destroyed by Muscovites—Lemberg Point of Great Strategic Value Being Center of Eight Railroads

If All Reports True, Situation in Northern Poland Will No Longer Cause Anxiety—British Public Waits with Spartan Patience, News from Eastern Theater of War—Practically None Has Been Received for Past 24 Hours.

Paris, Sept. 4.—(3.40 a.m.)—It is officially announced that the opposing armies around Paris have not come in contact. They continue their movement taking positions, the exact nature of which is not known.

"The Germans have been checked at Verdun. The French are successful in Lorraine and the Vosges. The situation is not changed."

London, Sept. 4.—The armies of Germany, Austria, Russia, France and Great Britain are still at death grips in four colossal battles. A few brief bulletins convey all the important facts that all the peoples of Europe knew about the interests of their armies so far overshadow all individual affairs that they wait with Spartan patience for information. English newspapers, owing to the lack of definite news of the battle, are filled with stories about wounded soldiers who saw the great conflict, and with reports from their correspondents from behind the fighting lines. The last 24 hours has yielded no definite news of the battle in northern France.

BRITISH LINES STILL INTACT; ARE RAISING HAVOC WITH INVADERS

German Plan According to Popular Speculation is Not to Besiege Paris, But to Force a Breach in the Chain of Fortresses With Their Newest Krupp Guns and Gain Entrance as at Liege and Namur—Soldiers of the King Bear the Strain of Continual Fighting Even Better Than the Frenchmen, Says Gallie Officers.

BULLETIN—London, Sept. 4—(4.35 a.m.)—The correspondent of the Times at Dieppe, under Thursday's date, indicates that the Germans are less than 25 miles from Paris. He says:

"All day yesterday the head of the wedge which now forms the German right was furiously forcing its way to Paris, battering the rear of the retreating French through Cecil, Senlis and Crepy-en-Valois. The cannonading broke windows in Chantilly, which is only 17 miles north of Paris.

"The Germans are also near Soissons."

To Aid German Army

London, Sept. 4.—From Switzerland comes a report that nearly 100,000 Austrians are being carried westward in trains to support the left wing of the German army operating against France.

Break Chain of Fortresses
London, Sept. 4.—The German plan, according to popular speculation is not to besiege Paris, but to attempt to force a breach in the chain of fortresses with their newest Krupp guns and gain entrance to the capital as they did at Liege and Namur.

Yale Herald Part
London, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Mail from Dieppe, France, says a visitor from Chantilly today, reports that the bombardment of Senlis, a town 32 miles northeast of Paris, could be distinctly heard from Chantilly Saturday afternoon.

Previous to the German advance to Orléans there was a big battle at Compiègne, in which the British took a heroic part. This battle took place Tuesday morning. The allies left was brought around to the southeast on Monday. The headquarters of the left wing was at Amiens, under the French general, Banaude, the Moroccan hero. On Tuesday the left wing was well to the north of the line from Gournay-en-Bray to Heaumont, and it has since closed in still more on the German army.

German Hosts Pressed
St. Quentin was the scene of a British fight on Sunday. On the British right the French, the British and the French scored a distinct success. On Sunday and Monday the Germans were badly pressed near Guise. The French completely demoralized them. The German losses were very heavy. The French infantry captain who was wounded told me regarding the engagement:

"We took the offensive and bent their lines back to La Fère," he said. "The British forces bear the strain of continual fighting even better than the Frenchmen, says Gallie Officers."

ors of German defeat at St. Quentin must be false for the English troops are retreating. We evacuate Compiègne and reach Liégeois. The German plan, according to popular speculation is not to besiege Paris, but to attempt to force a breach in the chain of fortresses with their newest Krupp guns and gain entrance to the capital as they did at Liege and Namur.

RUSSIANS MARCHING VICTORIOUS THROUGH AUSTRIAN TERRITORY

Stated Army Has Occupied Czernowitz and are Proceeding Southward from that City in Direction of Suczaw and Near Roumanian Border—Joseph's Troops are Repulsed Losing Guns Ensign and Many Men—Enemy is Now Retreating Precipitately, Says Official Report.

Milan, Italy, Sept. 4.—(via London)—The Secolo Bucarest correspondent, who is usually well informed, says the Russians have occupied Czernowitz, an eastern crown land of Austria-Hungary without resistance and are now marching southward from that city in the direction of Suczaw, in the same province and near the Roumanian border.

London, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Reuters Telegram company from Petrograd contains an official communication issued by the Russian government. It says:

"According to latest reports the battles of September 2 resulted in Russian victories. In order to counteract Austrian intentions a vigorous attack was made, which resulted successfully, the enemy retreating precipitately. Our troops captured a flag, mitrailleuses and many prisoners."

London, Sept. 4.—(1.35 a.m.)—The Russian official communication issued Thursday and carried here in a despatch to the Reuters Telegram company from Petrograd says: "On September 1 the Austrian troops tried to break through the Russian center between Lublin and Kholm, but failed. They were forced to leave a heavy retreat, the Russians capturing one ensign, eight machine guns and 1,600 prisoners."

"On the following day hard fighting was resumed with renewed energy. Prisoners taken by us report that the second Austrian army, which constitutes the covering force to the east of the Lemberg, is perfectly panic-stricken."

"In the neighborhood of Lemberg on September 2, 20 more guns were captured by the Russians, making a total of 120."

"On this front the Russian advance continues unintermittently."

BULLETIN—London, Sept. 4.—(7 a.m.)—A Petrograd despatch to the Reuters Telegram company says the commander-in-chief has notified the emperor that Russians have occupied Lemberg. London, Sept. 4.—The commander-in-chief's message was as follows: "With extreme joy and thanking God, I announce to your majesty that the victorious army under General Brusilov captured Lemberg at 11 o'clock this morning. The army of General Brusilov has taken Lemberg."

"I beg your majesty to confer on the victor the fourth class of the Order of St. George, and for the capture of Lemberg, the third class of the same order. General Brusilov, the fourth class of the same order."

BACK TO THE BARS GOES DAD BRENTON WITH HIS GRIZZLEY

Says There is No Reason for Unemployment in Edmonton

HAS DONE IT BEFORE AND SAYS HE KNOWS

Will Give an Exhibition of How It is Done at Low Level Bridge This Afternoon

"It's back to the gold bars for mine," is the way "Dad" Brenton, well-known old-timer and pioneer miner, announced his program for the next couple of months, meaning thereby the river bars, not the kind W. F. Gold of the Moral reform is trying to have closed.

In the opinion of "Dad" Brenton there is no occasion for anyone to be in the ranks of the unemployed in Edmonton. The river offers a job to anyone who can handle a shovel or a dicker at wages ranging from $3 to $8 a day. This is what he took out twenty-five years ago when he and many of the other old timers mined the river from Edmonton to Fort Pitt and from Edmonton up the river for seventy-five miles. Finding the coal business and other lines of promotion in which he has been engaged for some time rather slack he has built himself a "grizzley" and proposes to go up the river about 20 miles, to work down from there toward the city.

The "grizzley," which was just completed yesterday, is a masterpiece of frontier craftsmanship. All told, it does not weigh over 100 pounds and is only four feet, six inches long. The river and bolts constituting the hardware, cost him $4 and the four days consumed in building it. The quicksilver, of which he needs about a pound, cost him $12.50 a pound. This, and a blanket for the grizzley is the only outfit for equipment. The remainder of the necessary capital is what is required for supplies.

The bars in the immediate neighborhood of the city, Mr. Brenton says, have been pretty well worked over in the early days, and where this is the case, the gravel from which there is a possible recovery to be made is only about three inches thick, representing that which has been brought down by spring floods, since the last miners went over the ground. In other places, however, where the recovery was not so recently attempted to occupy the old timers, or where they may have overlooked spots altogether, the productive gravel is about three feet thick.

Upon it being represented to him by the Capital that the fact that there was gold in the river meant nothing to those who had no idea how to recover it, Mr. Brenton offered to devote two or three days of his time giving an exhibition of practical gold digging. Commencing this afternoon at 2:30 he will cut the rig on the low level just above the low level bridge where whoever feels sufficiently interested or curious to examine the "grizzley" or to learn how it is manipulated will be given an exhibition of gold mining "as it is done" in this latitude and general neighborhood.

COLDSTREAMS LOSE MANY MEN WHEN SURROUNDED LARGE BODY GERMAN

London, Sept. 4.—In reference to the heavy casualties suffered by the Coldstream guards, a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph states that it is largely due to the fact that a company of the guards found themselves surrounded at Heilsberg by the Germans. When their position was revealed through a German officer's calling, the guards turned their machines on the Germans and moved them down in great numbers. Before the Coldstream guards could retire, however, they suffered heavily both in officers and men.

BIG CRACKS ON HAND AND FINGERS

Eczema for Three Years. Broke Out on Head in Scales, Itched and Burned Badly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Lyons Brook, N. S.—"I suffered with eczema for three years. It started on my hands first in scaly bumps on my fingers and all over the palms of my hands and fingers were very big cracks. Then it broke out on my head in scales. It itched and burned so badly I could not sleep. It was so itching and burning that I scratched and made sores and my hair came out awfully bad. I did not know what it was."

"I was treated for a long time and it did not do any good. I gave up my work for a month but as soon as I started doing my house-work again my hands got just as bad as ever. I used two bottles of Cuticura and it did not do any good. On day I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them. I sent for a sample and I used them till I saw it stop itching and burning. I got three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and this cured me." (signed) Mrs. J. J. What the Theater Press Agents Say

"THE PLAYERS" CAPTURE

EDMONTONIANS.

A larger audience than has greeted any production at the Empire this season, artistic staging, excellent playlet and—let it not be forgotten—good orchestra music were the features of the first engagement of "The Players" in Edmonton, at the Empire Thursday evening.

The play chosen to open the season was "The Amazons," a farce of the English peacock. The music, however, was of the English peacock. The music, however, was of the English peacock. The music, however, was of the English peacock.

Suffice it to say that the author was Arthur Wing Pinero, who made his name as a playwright before he wrote "The Amazons," which, however, was his greatest success; and that the production is by Theodore Johnston, whose name is one to conjure with in Edmonton.

As to the players themselves, it must be said that they created a most favorable impression with Edmonton theatergoers at their first appearance. The elite of the city were out in full force to greet them, and if the usual good feelings keep up, the city will not be too bad off this season in the particular line of entertainment.

Guy Harrington, the leading man of The Players, made himself loved by all his fine rendering of Lord Littery, the envied type of athletic Englishman, who happens to be a cousin of Lady Norton, one of "The Amazons."

The leading man of the company, respectively, have taken appearances, first voices and were apparently born to grace the stage, but when it comes to themselves, as man and woman, that probably endeared them the most to the first-night audience.

It has been said more than once that the so-called minor roles of a play are the hard hands to play than those given to the "leading" men and women. "The Amazons" is a play of that class, undoubtedly. For instance, Charles Peyton, as the Earl of Tweenways, has a difficult place to fill, and although he made most of the fun last night, someone he did not seem to fill the bill. His exposition of the "my family" type of Englishman in contradistinction to Lord Littery, kept the play balanced up.

The other two amazons were taken by Jessie MacAllister and Edith Cooper. Will Nottle as the Franco-Englishman was almost as fully as the Earl of Tweenways, while the other lesser parts were very well portrayed as follows:

Neil McLeod, as Rev. Roger Minchin; Cyril Gillen as Elton, a gamekeeper; Fred Thevenard, as Youatt, a footman; Edmund Roberts, as Oris, a boaster; Sidie Reynolds, as Sergeant Shuter, and, of course, Miss Florence Templeton, as the marchioness. The Players will appear again Friday and Saturday evenings in "The Amazons," and in a Saturday matinee, at 25 and 50 cent prices. During the last half of next week they will play in "Are You a Mason?"

NORTHERN ALBERTA STORY COMING PANTAGES

Now and then an act which is in itself a unique novelty makes its appearance on the vaudeville stage. The next week at Pantages theater such an act will be offered as the feature attraction. Since more the audience will be transferred back into the old minstrel days of Pinrose and Dock.

At South Fork, South Dakota, they answered seven curtain calls and all along the road they have been the hit at every performance. The added attraction for the week is the appearance of Isabel Fletcher and Charles Ayres and company in the dramatic playlet, entitled, "The Game." The sketch deals with scenes of life in the country north of Edmonton and is of highly singular power. Miss Fletcher and Charles Ayres have just finished a five years' stock engagement in

YANCOOVER AND SHOULD MEET WITH A GREAT SUCCESS IN EDMONTON.

The fun will be supplied by Hugo Laegren, the Swedish dialect monologist. His biggest success has been his impersonation of the Swede preacher. It is not a religious burlesque by any means. Sometimes the accuracy of his impersonation brings forth a smile but the things sacred to the church are left severely alone.

Elwood and Snow will be seen in a novelty ventriloquist turn, which is checked out good. Elwood and Snow will be seen in a novelty ventriloquist turn, which is checked out good.

"SHERLOCK HOLMES" AT LYCEUM TWO MORE DAYS.

"Sherlock Holmes," at the Lyceum this week is supplying enough thrills to hold the undivided attention of the audience throughout the four good nights. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle little thought that the man of his imaginative brain's creation would gain such control over the readers of section as the great detective. But Sherlock Holmes has not only been a success as a book, but the dramatization of his life immediately after it is the very best of the stories woven into a single tale.

The leading man of the company, respectively, have taken appearances, first voices and were apparently born to grace the stage, but when it comes to themselves, as man and woman, that probably endeared them the most to the first-night audience.

It has been said more than once that the so-called minor roles of a play are the hard hands to play than those given to the "leading" men and women. "The Amazons" is a play of that class, undoubtedly. For instance, Charles Peyton, as the Earl of Tweenways, has a difficult place to fill, and although he made most of the fun last night, someone he did not seem to fill the bill.

FREAK OF NATURE SHOWN AT EMPRESS.

An unusual story is told by the feature film production shown at the Empress, leading the program Friday and Saturday. It is one that exemplifies the spirit of revenge.

Ted and Tom were roommates at college. They were both in love with Irene. Ted is soon forgotten and Tom is warmly welcomed into the heart of the fair coed. Ted, who had a very temper, was badly in love with her, and the thought of his giving her up nearly drove him mad. He tried to forget, but in vain. It happened one day that the professor was explaining to the class "the making of a time bomb" to be used for blasting. Ted took particular interest in this lecture and determined upon a plan.

A few days later Tom received a note from his sweetheart stating that she would like him to visit the laboratory and would meet him there at 4 o'clock the following afternoon. Ted had the note before Tom got there. Jealousy took an upper hand and Ted placed a time bomb in the laboratory, connecting the wires with the clock, so that the bomb would explode at 4 o'clock and blow his roommate and the girl he loved to atoms. The next day it stormed. Tom tried to persuade Irene not to go, but she insisted. Ted arrived at the laboratory first—now completely insane—clothing over the terrible trick he was about to play. A sudden freak of nature, in the way of lightning striking in the vicinity of the college, turned the hands of the clock ahead and a terrible disaster happened—killing Ted.

The suspense is good and the suggestion of the approaching storm is wonderfully well put. The feature of having the lightning move the clock ahead was based on an actual occurrence.

A FILM WITH A LESSON FOR BIJOU.

The most popular amateur night in the capital feature attraction at the Bijou theater for Friday night. Together with the "Country Store," these special evenings at the Bijou have not been excelled as crowd pullers. A number of good acts have been fortunately booked for this evening's entertainment and more sport is in store for those who will attend.

"The Parent's Strain" is the title of one of the interesting pictures that will be exhibited on the program of photographs that will be shown in the auditorium. The story of "The Parent Strain" tells a story that has more than mere entertainment in it for it is graphically and effectively presented.

Tom and Harry are in love with Ruth Hartley. When Ted, Harry and the boys' mother, realizing that the marriage will be a failure, inasmuch as that her son, Joe, has inherited his father's trait and fever for the gambling table, makes Ruth's father cognizant of the fact and suggests that he break off the engagement between the two. The father confronts Joe with the news and Joe makes a denial. The girl champions her sweetheart and tears the letter up in front of the mother who refuses to listen any further on the subject. Her confidence is shattered, however, when, on the day that they are to be married, Joe is discovered gambling at the western saloon, and in a fit of anger, the girl marries Tom. When the realization asserts itself, Joe is too late to regain the confidence of the girl. He appeals to the minister of the settlement, who induces him to become a minister and try to make amends preaching the gospel.

Ten years elapse and Joe has become the most respected citizen in the community. Unfortunately for Tom, the gambling fever gets the better of him and he loses the money he has saved. His wife has refused to leave him from his salary as foreman of the mine. One day a letter arrives from the girl who has refused to leave him from his salary as foreman of the mine. One day a letter arrives from the girl who has refused to leave him from his salary as foreman of the mine.

ARCHBISHOP SAYS THAT CLERGYMEN SHOULD NOT ENLIST AS COMBATANTS

London, Sept. 4.—That church of England clergymen should not enlist as combatants is the opinion expressed by the Archbishop of Canterbury in a letter to the district bishop, prompted by inquiries he received from a large number of the younger clergy-men.

He writes: "I have given careful attention to the question, which some people feel is very difficult one. By every line of thought I have pursued I am led to the conclusion that I am right in maintaining that the position of an actual combatant in our army is incompatible to the position of one who has sought and received holy orders."

He adds that clergymen should regard their ministry, whether at home or in the field in time of warfare, as their special contribution to the country. He rejoices to know that far more clergy have offered to serve as chaplains in the army and navy than can possibly be accepted.

REUBEN'S MASTERPIECE SAVED BY BRAVERY OF STEWART ROYAL MUSEUM

London, Sept. 4.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from the Hague says:

"One of Reuben's famous masterpieces, which has long hung in the church of Notre Dame at Malines, Belgium, and which was thought to be in danger of destruction by German shells was saved by M. de Mont, the steward of the Royal Museum at Antwerp."

At de Mont, on learning that the Germans were bombarding Malines, rushed from Antwerp in a motor car, and at great personal risk, brought the picture to Antwerp, passing through the German lines at various points. The painting was given into the custody of King Albert.

UP TO FARMERS RAISE FOOD AND ALSO SOLVE OUT-OF-WORK PROBLEM

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—That the farmers of Canada can perform a fine patriotic service with profit to themselves was the belief expressed by Hon. T. Croker, minister of labor, today.

"The farmers will play a most important part in this war," said Croker. "Food will be needed particularly. The patriotic farmer will be the one who utilizes every acre he has. The farmer will also help to solve the unemployment problem. The farmer is the man who can produce food for the army and navy and for the people at home. The farmer is the man who can produce food for the army and navy and for the people at home."

A FEW FACTS RELATING TO GREAT WAR THAT ARE HARD TO REALIZE

(By a Correspondent)
Boulogne, Sept. 4.—Readers fail to grasp the meaning of war as conducted on a huge scale today. Each so-called army includes three or four army corps, or forty thousand men each, who occupy a battle front of at least three miles to any army corps—often double that front. This makes a battle of between 20 and 30 miles to an army of allies and three German armies on the northern frontier alone. No one can watch these operations of even one corps at a time. Of course, the commanding generals get reports from the different parts of the field, but they do not necessarily communicate them even to their governments while the battle is progressing.

East forests extend from Compelme to Chantilly. A smaller one is located between these places at Senlis, about thirty miles north of Paris. These offer defence of the defending army. They also offer a choice of action. These great woods effectively screen withdrawal or eruption against hostile columns coming from the north.

Between Senlis and Paris is a richly cultivated rolling plain is still covered with golden corn. There are numerous small towns with walled enclosures. Otherwise the land is open, save for passages of forests. The hills are gentle and low. The Oise becomes siltier as it flows southward. Relying upon the deadly strength of the heavy artillery, the Germans are trying to crush their way through regardless of loss.

Night Attacks Favored.
Night attacks are favorite German tactics. When the allied armies have retired to a new position and bivouacked for the night, the Germans repeatedly open terrible artillery fire at four o'clock in the morning. It is followed by heavy cavalry and infantry charges. The scream and shriek of hundreds of shrapnel shells, especially if the allies are screened by trees, is indescribable. For then the attack is and ending of trees and the tumult of exploding shells add to the noise. The enemies hear all the excitement and hear nothing but the blinding lights of scores of shells bursting at the time.

STATED THAT ITALY DETERMINED OBSERVE STRICT NEUTRALITY

New York, Sept. 4.—Dow Jones, who has been quoted as having said that Italy was determined to observe strict neutrality, stated today that Italy was determined to observe strict neutrality.

"The Italian government is firmly determined to maintain strictest neutrality," he corresponds with the feeling of the people although deep-rooted sympathies are felt for England.

On my way toward the fighting line at Solignies, I got my first sight of the British prisoners. They were from all regiments, including some Highlanders. They were sitting in a village street under guard. I asked permission to speak to them. It was refused. They were being treated courteously by non-commissioned officers, but were continually laughed at by their captors. It was bad taste to laugh at men downed in their luck. They were receiving the same ration given to the German soldiers.

I did not see any officers, but a hotel keeper told me three German officers, with the British officers who were prisoners, laughed there that morning. Between Solignies and Mons I was continually taken for an English refugee or spy. My papers were continually examined. German officers told me I ran great danger of being shot by sentries, as they say I closely resemble an Englishman. My clothes made an effort to calculate the number of Germans wounded in the town in the path of the army. The task was difficult because Germans do not have field hospitals. They merely have a large number of doctors who

GERMANS SOCIALISTS GET VERY LUKEWARM RECEPTION AT ROME

London, Sept. 4.—A Rome message to the Times says that the German socialist delegation which came to Rome to explain to the Italian socialists their attitude regarding the present war were received in a lukewarm manner. The Rome socialists adopted a motion protesting against the delegation whose mission they consider indolent intrigue. The motion says:

"We hope peace shall be soon restored without conquests or conquered. If this hope is defeated then let the war applied and kept clean without much effort, no fading and very durable, 47 inches wide. Saturday, 25c Specials, per yard

EDMONTON CITY DAIRY TAKES
SECOND GAME FROM BULLETIN

By the score of 5 to 3 the Edmonton City Baseball team, winners of the senior city league made sure of the city championship, by again disposing of the Bulletin intermediate team on Thursday. This concludes the series, the dairy having taken it in straight games, both of which were hard fought. Lamb and Irwin took turns on the mound for the winners, Lamb traveling the first four innings, while Irwin finished the game. The latter usually reckoned the best pitcher in the city, was not in his form yesterday, weakening in the seventh and ninth innings when the Bulletin amassed their count.

Kootenay worked the whole game for the intermediates and did fairly well, although towards the end he was beginning to feel the strain.

Second-baseman Lapp of the Dairy was the prime performer with the willow, four times up, getting three blows and driving three runs across the plate. Davidson and Kenting each were credited with two hits a piece for the Bulletin. Kootenay getting his team's other hit.

The dairy took first blood in the third. Hall was safe on an error and was advanced around the circuit by Lamb and Bentley. Again in the third on a combination of clean hitting and base stealing they added two more counters to their total, making it 3 to 0. The Bulletin touched the chalk in the sixth, scoring two runs, through a hit and an error. In the ninth they Irwin walked a couple and let loose looked to have sacrificed hits, but a wild pitch, but the best they could do was to garner one counter.
